PARENT INVOLVEMENT PROGRAM

The parent involvement program is designed to build the capacity of parents to better work with their children, teachers, and schools by providing them with knowledge, information, tools and techniques that are essential in establishing a trusting and supportive relationship. The program reinforces the importance of the collaborative partnership between schools, families, and communities in ensuring the academic and social success of all children and families.

All parent workshops are research based and are designed specifically to help parents understand their vital and irreplaceable role that they have in their children's academic success and in life.

Parent Workshops

Successful Parenting Series

MODULE I: (Pre K - 8)

(4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

Homework: Looking Beyond the Work

The goal of this training is to equip parents with the necessary knowledge, tools, and techniques that are vital in assisting their children with homework. Participants will learn the fundamentals of homework; how to identify the parents' and each one of their children's learning styles in an effort to better assist with homework. They will also comprehend the vital role they as parents play in relation to the learning process and the academic success.

MODULE II: (Pre K - 12)

(4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

Parent Awareness: The Key to Academic Success

This module aims to provide parents with essential information, tools, and techniques about the importance of establishing a routine of discipline as a teaching and learning process, a structure of organization and time management, and communication as a dialogue. Also, parents will learn how to instill values that promote an effective learning home environment and a systematic support for their children's academic success. The ultimate goal is for parents to realize what a decisive role they play in instilling high expectations in their children and being aware of what factors promote academic success.

MODULE III: (Pre K - 12)

(4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

DISCIPLINE: How to make a "Stop" with our children without punishing

This training provide parents with a step-by step- ways to create a structure of discipline effectively that leads to cooperation without punishing in the home and teaches kids to be accountable and responsible for their behavior. Participants will learn how to create their own personal discipline system by understanding the meaning of discipline, learning how to set rules and use consequences effectively so that children learn limits and are motivated to behave appropriately, and by knowing how to identify their own "Parenting Styles" and their possible outcomes for their children.

MODULE IV: (Elementary - H.S.)

The Essence of Adolescence: An Unknown World

Part I (4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

This research-based training examines the latest studies associated with adolescent behaviors and development, highlights the positive and important role that parents play to help teens successfully transition into adulthood. Parents and educators attending this workshop will gain a better understanding of the important role that empathy plays in understanding teenagers and how our own adolescent years shaped our lives and parenting styles. Additionally, participants will learn effective strategies for staying emotionally connected and improving communication with their teens, while at the same time developing and establishing effective school-family partnerships.

Part II THE ADOLESCENT BRAIN (4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

Participants will gain a better understanding of what makes a good kid do bad things. This workshop will make parents aware of what is going on inside the adolescent brain and why do they do what they do? Being aware of these neurological changes during adolescence can help parents and educators understand unexplainable behavior and how to anticipate and manage the behavior to prevent risk behaviors in adolescents.

MODULE V: (Elementary - H.S.)

(4 - 8 sessions of 2 hours each)

From High School To College: The pathway to success

This workshop contains principles that can be applied to all grades levels and will be especially useful to those parents who have students transitioning from middle school to high school or to college. Participants attending this workshop will gain a better understanding of the importance of a high school education and the options available to teens once they complete high school. Participants will explore the impact and causes as to why teens do not complete high school and what they can do to prevent this from occurring. Lastly, participants will understand what assets parents must provide and teens must possess in order to facilitate a successful completion of high school and attend to college.
